

Discover Vancouver

Vancouver has it all, but where to start?

Perched on the western edge of Canada, Vancouver is a city that effortlessly marries natural beauty with urban vitality.

Picture a place where majestic mountains kiss the sky, the Pacific Ocean caresses its shores, and a bustling metropolis thrives in harmony. Welcome to Vancouver, where the great outdoors meets city life.

Museum of Anthropology: Located at the University of British Columbia, this museum showcases indigenous art and cultural artifacts. Visitors can explore the rich history and traditions of Canada's indigenous peoples.

Vancouver Art Gallery: As one of the largest art galleries in Canada, this museum features an extensive collection of both historical and contemporary art. It's a must-visit for art enthusiasts.

Food Truck Tasting: Vancouver has a thriving food truck scene, offering a wide variety of delicious and diverse cuisines. Roaming the city streets, you can find food trucks serving everything from gourmet tacos and poutine to international delights like sushi burritos and butter chicken.

Shopping on Robson Street: A premier shopping destination, featuring a broad range of shops, boutiques, and flagship stores. You can explore the latest fashion trends, unique accessories, and stylish home goods at a variety of retail outlets. Robson Street is also home to numerous cafes and restaurants, making it a perfect place to enjoy a leisurely day of shopping followed by a delightful meal.

Capilano Suspension Bridge Park: Experience the beauty of Vancouver's temperate rainforest by walking across the suspension bridge that spans the Capilano River. It's a thrilling way to immerse yourself in the lush greenery of the region.

Whale Watching: Vancouver is a prime location for whale watching. Hop on a boat tour from the city's waterfront to spot orcas, humpback whales, and other marine life in the waters surrounding the city.

Learn More

How to move around the city

Getting to Vancouver and its surrounding region is convenient, and once you arrive, exploring is a breeze. Take advantage of our curated collection of essential information for visitors, ensuring you're well-prepared for an exceptional experience.

Vancouver is known for its bike-friendly infrastructure, with numerous bike lanes and paths throughout the city.

You can rent a bike from various bike-sharing programs like Mobi by Shaw Go, which offers short-term rentals for exploring the city at your own pace.

Additionally, the Seawall, a scenic path that circles the downtown peninsula, is a popular choice for cyclists with stunning waterfront views.

TransLink is the regional transportation authority that operates the bus and SkyTrain (light rail) services in Vancouver.

Buses cover an extensive network, making it easy to reach various neighborhoods and attractions.

The SkyTrain system connects the city with its suburbs and the airport, providing a convenient way to travel within the metro area.

Fares are typically paid using the Compass Card or Compass Ticket, which allows for seamless transfers between different modes of public transit.

Taxis are readily available throughout the city, especially in the downtown area and around major tourist destinations. You can either hail a taxi on the street or book one in advance.

Ride-sharing services like Uber and Lyft are also operational in Vancouver, offering another convenient option for getting around the city.

Given Vancouver's waterfront location, water taxis are a unique way to travel between different parts of the city, including Granville Island and the downtown peninsula.

These water taxis provide scenic and efficient transportation, often with frequent departures.

Vancouver is a walkable city, particularly in the downtown area. Many of the city's top attractions, shops, and restaurants are within walking distance of each other.

Useful Links

Congress Venue

Vancouver Convention Centre, Vancouver
1055 Canada Pl, Vancouver, BC V6C 0C3;
Canada

Vancouver Tourism

Learn everything that you need to know about Vancouver and have the best time discovering the city.

Carbon Footprint

We can contribute towards maintaining a balance in the environment by preserving the planet and its natural resources.